Description:

A copper-colored ale hopped exclusively with Cascade, including a first-wort addition.

Gold-medal winner at the 2000 Great American Beer Festival in the Extra Special Strong Bitter category.

“Pale” does not mean golden like a pilsner. Ales were originally called “Pale” to distinguish them from Stouts, Porters, and Browns.

This style has been brewed most notably in the Burton-on-Trent region of central England, where the water is famous for its high mineral content, thus lending a dry finish to the beer.
